

- Name of a current Texas A&M Tradition already here at Texas A&M University of your choice.
 - Ring day
- Name(s) of the creator(s) of the tradition.
 - The tradition is created by Porter Garner.
- Date the tradition was established (if unknown, provide an estimated date).
 - The tradition was established in 2000, but the first Aggie ring day was held on April 6, 2000.
- Time of year the tradition occurs.
 - The tradition occurs in April, October, November, and other months such as December and August.
- Simple explanation of the Texas A&M Tradition. No more than four lines.
 - The ring day tradition is a celebration of hard work, and it occurs in three months in the year. The tradition takes place in Clayton W. Williams Jr. Alumni Center. The event consists of receiving the Aggie rings, but it is also a festive event as well.
- Name of new Texas A&M Tradition that you will create from scratch. (It can be anything).
 - ETAM Banquet is the proposed new tradition.
- Time of year the tradition will occur.
 - The time of year that the tradition would occur is in late August or late January.
- Simple explanation of the new Texas A&M Tradition.
 - Similar to Match day for medical students in which they have a ceremony to find out which field they are going to, we would like to implement a ETAM Banquet where freshman engineering students celebrate their successes with their fellow classmates in getting their major.